AROUND TOWN.

The city council will meet this evening.

Mr. O. A. Harker, of Vienna, is in the city.

James M. Gregg, States-Attorney of Saline county, is in the city.

Miss Sarah Black, of this city, and Mrs. Dave Black, of Charleston, left here on Sunday night for Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Edholm left Cairo by the steamer James Fisk for Paducah last evening.

ing. They will make their home in that city.

We welcome Col. Lowery to the fourth estate. He has donned the editorial harness and is now associate editor of the Ballard News, with headquarters at Cairo.

Bill Scott was taken before Judge Bird yesterday, charged with having violated the city ordinances by selling beer in the park on Saturday. He was fined ten dollars and costs, which he paid and was discharged.

At a special meeting of the Board of health held recently that body determined through Josh Allen, our next member of congress, to make an effort to have the government establish a hospital here for the benefit of marines.

Judge Allen will speak at the Court-house next Saturday night. Arrangements are being made by which people from a distance will have an opportunity to attend and hear our next congressman discuss the real questions of the day.

Geo Rutledge, one of the negroes who was killed in the affray at the Caledonia bar-buque on Saturday last, was a resident of Mound City. Will Freeman, the other victim, lived near Caledonia. The affair originated in whisky and women.

The porch of the residence of Mrs. Wellman, on Fifth street, between Commercial and Washington avenues, fell last night, shortly after dusk, and precipitated her to the ground, breaking her leg. It is hoped the accident will not prove of a dangerous character.

Willie Wright, who went to Chicago to attend a convention of the amateur editors of the United States, was overcome by the heat in the Tremont house on last Friday. He was kindly cared for by the ladies in the house and brought out all right after a few hours. He arrived home on Sunday.

Belle Brown, a colored woman, was arranged before Judge Bird yesterday, on complaint of Mayor Winter. His Honor found Belle loitering around the saloons on Commercial avenue Saturday night, and advised her to go home, whereupon Belle became very indignant, and suggested that His Honor had better "go to blazes." This grated very harshly on the mayor's ears, and Judge Bird fined Belle $5 and costs.

On Sunday morning we stated that in a match race at Metropolis, last week, the Kynaston horse of this city beat the fastest horse that could be picked out of Tom Logan's Murphysboro stable. Our informant exaggerated. The Kynaston horse was beaten by the Logan horse on one day, and in a match race the succeeding day beat the Logan horse. The latter was not the fastest nag in Mr. Logan's stable, and the Cairo boys do not wish to be placed in an attitude of "crowing" over their victory, as the item in our Sunday's issue would imply.

The following is a list of letters remaining uncalled for at the post-office at Cairo on Saturday evening, August 3: Anderson Biddle; Armstrong Mrs. Jo; Clay Maggie; Davis Bell; Hodfrey Miss J. R; Harris Jennie; Hunter Bettie; Hall Mollie; Hendricks Jennie; Perkins Maria; Williams Frankie; Williams Mollie; Allen J. P.; Brewster S. A.; Baker L. W.; Cago C. H.; Diehschild Geo. J.; Galle Hugh; Hart C.; Horn Henry; Hood Win; Luce E. A.; Marshall E. M.; Marshall J. W.; O'Leary Thos.; Smith Edmund; Spinks Louis; Taylor E. W.; Warren & Co.; Taylor Willie; Williams Rob't; Zevely E. S.

The twilight concern says the Republicans are running their own canvass. The information is superfluous. The canvass has all the earmarks of Republican manipulation. They can not accomplish anything by a fair discussion of the issues of the times, and they hope to succeed by flooding the district with greenbacks, putting them where they will do the most good--bracing up the weak-kneed of their faith who threaten to jump into the inviting pastures of "plenty of money and nothing to do to get it." But money will not win in this canvass. The people of the Eighteenth district desire to be represented in the next congress by brains--and this leaves the boy herout of the count.

Mr. John Hodges this morning announces himself through the columns of THE BULLETIN as a candidate for the office of sheriff of this county. Of Mr. Hodges, personally, it is needless for us to speak. No man in the county has a larger personal acquaintance, or more devoted friends. His knowledge of the duties of the position is thorough, and has been acquired by long experience and hard work, and in the discharge of the office branch of the shrievalty he has been uniformly civil and obliging, never failing to give satisfaction to the hundreds whose business bring them in contact with him; while as the executive officer of the laws we can safely look to him for discretion and firmness. Mr. Hodges is in every way worthy to fill the office to which he aspires.

The Jonesboro Gazette in alluding to our comments upon the remarks of its Anna correspondent about Dr. Wardner uses the following gracious language: "We were not aware that Dr. Wardner had this experience in the government hospital. We are also assured by the doctor's friends in Cairo, and in Anna and Jonesboro, that he is a good financier, and possesses all the elements to make a first-class superintendent of the hospital for insane, in this place. We have no doubt that should the trustees appoint Dr. Wardner they would do the right thing, and that the institution would be conducted in a superior manner under his management, together with the assistance of his estimable wife, who is a lady of superior ability and sterling worth, and who has always taken a great interest in charitable institutions of the State.

In Sunday morning's issue of THE BULLETIN in our statement in regard to the Golden Crown, we doubted the truth of the report that there was any yellow fever on board the boat. We were led to this belief by the assurance of a trustworthy gentleman who had been thoroughly convinced, by Captain Walker, master of the Golden Crown, that there was no yellow fever on his boat. We had the same authority for saying that the Captain had said that the health officer at Memphis pronounced the boat clear of the disease. It is now evident that Capt. Walker imposed upon the credulity of our informant, and that yellow fever was on board his boat. There could have been no intention to cast any reflection upon Dr. Dunning in the discharge of his onerous and vexatious duties, as our reporter got no information from him, and did not know what the doctor's opinion of the Golden Crown was, or what course he subsequently pursued toward the boat. The opinion of the doctor that the yellow fever was on the Golden Crown, is confirmed by the following dispatch from Dr. Erskine of Memphis:

"Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 5 1877. To Dr. C. W. Dunning:--Golden Crown had three cases of yellow fever aboard when she passed quarantine at Memphis. J. H. Erskine health officer.

Capt. S. I. Davis, the National Greenback candidate, was the attraction at the court-house last night. The horse was well filled, and listened attentively to the speeches made by Mr. Ingram and Capt. Davis. Mr. Ingram opened by making some personal charges against Judge Allen, and then gave away to Capt. Davis who made an elaborate speech on the financial issue. The portion of the audience in accord with the greenback idea seemed pleased with his remarks; but, in our opinion, he fell far short of Mr. Stelle in ability as a reasoner, and, probably without knowledge of the fact, made some very palpable misstatements. For instance, he said Senator David Davis, of Illinois, had made an investigation of the treasury of the United States and found a discrepancy in its accounts of over two millions of dollars. For this reason he took much merit for his own party. "Why was not this found out before?" he inquired, and his inference was that the old parties would not discover such dishonesties. The fact is, Senator David Davis made no such investigation; but Senator Davis, of West Virginia, a Democrat, did, and he did it after making repeated attempts during five long years to get at the books. This is a fair specimen of the ignorance displayed by Mr. Davis in his speech. We acquit him of an intention to be unfair. He is simply ignorant of generally-known political facts.

TICKETS on the Eckert moonlight excursion to-night cost $1.00 for gentlemen alone or $1.50 for gentlemen accompanied by as many ladies as he can take care of. There is no good reason why any one should be left at home. The names on the committee, C. W. Henderson, Jas. A. Phillis and Capt. James Dugan, are a guarantee of a good time.

ANNUAL MEETING.--The Widow's and Orphan's Mutual Aid Society of Cairo will meet on Tuesday, 6th inst., at 2 o'clock p.m., at Turner Hall, for the purpose of electing managers for the ensuing year, and to transact such other business as may be presented. Each member is entitled to a vote. A full attendance is desired. The public are respectfully invited to attend the meeting.

DEATH-DRIVING YELLOW FEVER.

ITS RAVAGES INCREASING, WHILE THE CHOLERA SEASON IS APPROACHING--HOW TO STAY THESE CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

(Missouri Republican, Aug. 4.)
While fright is the most nutritious food upon which pestilence thrives, it is nevertheless important to consider the danger which now threatens us from yellow fever. Reports from Southern cities indicate a rapid increase and spread of this dreadfully fatal scourge, and well defined cases of the disease is not only appearing, but multiplying in places not more than two hundred miles from St. Louis. For hundreds of years scientists have been searching for a remedy for yellow fever, but not until very recently has there been a preventive discovered, while a cure is not yet known. A preventive, however, is always better than a cure, and for the success thus attained the blessing of mankind is due.

No danger need now be apprehended, for the disease cannot possibly attack those who will take the precaution to provide themselves with a Holman Pad and wear it properly and uninterruptedly. The power of the Pad to cure many of the most malignant diseases has now passed beyond question, and its virtues in keeping the system in a healthful condition, thereby exempting the wearer from attacks of yellow fever, are becoming well known, and on shipboard, at least, thoroughly appreciated.

The company have sent to Cairo one of their most trusted medical experts and have established his consultation parlors at the St. Charles until an office in a more central location can be fitted up. All consultations are free, and patients can be treated with safety and correctness by letter. Those who are not able or do not find it convenient to call at the hotel, will, on application, at their homes, receive consultation, free of charge. Address, Holman Pad Co., St. Charles Hotel, Cairo, Ill.
